NORFOLK, VA., September 30.—Members of society are returning o Norfolk slowly. They have spent the summer at the resorts in the vicinity, and after the season for gayeties at the resorts began to wane they went elsewhere for the interval between the summer and the fall. They are just beginning to return, and the first fashionable wedding of the season occurred this week. It was that of Miss Lucy Baylor, who was married to Mr. John Dozler Gordon, and one of the pretty features of thich was that the bride wore the diess which her mother had worn as a bride, of hecaede sain, trimmed with point lace and peurls. There are no other fashionable marriages announced for the season, but the residences of the city have begun to assume the appearance of eing inh idited, and the gayeties of the fall season will soon be as frequent as they are Juring the winter season, though not so claborate. There is a promise of a great deal of gayety here during the fall. That will not detract from the greater gayety of the winter, but will slow that the general prosperity of the people is better assured.

Rev. and Mrs. Carl E. Grammer received the members of Christ Church and other friends Thursday evening at the rectory, on Bute Street Dr. Grammer left Eaturday to spend a few days in Baltimore before going to Philadelphia, where he has accepted a call to St. Stephen's Church. It would be impossible for him to visit each member of Christ Church, with whom he has been identified for more than seven years, and he took this way to say good bye, and to have the people to inspect the rectory, which has been remodeled. It is with the deepest resret that the Norfolk people give up Dr. Grammer and his family.

Frolic at Chase City.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHASE CITY, VA., Sept. 30.—These glorious September days have been taken advantage of by the still remaining, and many incoming, guests of the Meckleniours. The records of recreation last week exceeded those of the height of the season. Literally speaking, the crowning event of the week was the tournament, coronation and german, which came off according to programme on Friday last, and which, as a harmonious whote, was full of pleasure, as one night well antelpate as eminating from this resort. The Mecklenburg did not have to go outside of its own portly preclates for pressred oratory equal to the occasion, as Dr. J. E. Malone, a distinguished Louisburg physician, was on hand to make the most excellent impromptu address and charge to Sir Knights, acquiting himself in a fulshed manner. He was appropriately introduced by Col. Harry Easley, president of the People's Bank, of South Boston.

A forest and flower-ringed field, girdled with gallant gay gentry, girls and ladies of every age, description and degree, from farm, factory and hotel, in vehicles from grandfather's time and style down to date, came early in the afternoon to witness the tilling and to applaud the successful knights; many to take purt in other ceremonies. An hour of prancing and practice, and an hour of risk; rare riding rounded out the rites, participated in by the cleverest of Sir Knights, contestints for the honor and ceremony of crowning a Queen of Love and Beauty a survived ecremory of centuries, celebrated still in all civilized countries and errifying to the self-sacrificing chiefatin, crediting the mother of Sates with others of the great class of Bayard-producers.

The judges were:
Captain T. D. Jeffress, Colonel W. T. Hughes, Mr. H. T. Hutchlson and W. F. Fowikes. Chief marshall, Mr. Kit Haskins, Chase of the great class of Bayard-producers.

The following knights entered the lists: "Knight of Charlotte, A. B. Hamner, Knight of Peeline style, W. H. G

The Knight of Charlotte, A. B. Hamner, riding Colonel Hughes' famous huntcr. Reuben, in bee-line style, took every ring in straight order, and uncontestedly was declared the victorious knight ami

Knight of the Old Apple Tree, C. C. Cardoza, crowned Miss Lottle Staples, of Keysville, and the Knight of Keysville,
Heber J. Morton, crowned Miss Lucy Witkins, of Danville.
The creemonles took place in the pavillon, which was crowded on every side by spectators. Mr. W. E. Dibrell introduced the coronation orator, Mr. R. B.
Boone, an emlinent lawyer of Durham,
N. C., who, in appropriate terms, delivcred the excellent coronation affdress, presenting the cup and crowns in a warm and worthy manner to the successful "Sir Knighis," who each in turn, erowned the queens in becoming style.

The royal set was heautifully danced

Womack, William H., Goode with Miss Lottle Staples, of Double Bridge, Mr. Heber J. Morton with Miss Lottle Staples, of Double Bridge, Mr. Heber J. Morton with Miss Lucy Watklins, of Danville.

The first german was led by Dr. J. T. Hunter with Mary Womack, of Keysville; the doctor subsequently leading with Mrs. H. H. Doggett, of New York; than which no prettler or more enjoyable duncing was ever had here.

Beautiful figures were also led by Mr. H. M. Perkinson, of Greenville, Miss., with Miss Emma Staples, of South Iffil. The music and dancing did not cease until after one o'clock, A. M.

Among the other dancers were; Messrs, Thompson and Heber Morton, A. B. Hamner, Perkinson, L. C. Jeffreys, J. C. Owen, G. K. Glimer, H. M. Goode, T. H. Haskins, T. Haskins, T. H., L. W. Farls, Proston Magee, Alonzo McNeely, Blackstone; W. E. Womack, J. G. Jannesson, Oudin, of New York; Willard Craig, of Richmond; Dr. Gregory, W. A. Mendows, Charlie Cordoza, D. S. Winn, W. P. Jor, dan, Jr., A. E. Noveyl, Hughes and Cabell Fliggerald, W. L. Wallace, W. E. Womack, H. B. Hartman and E. Seaton, of Richmond, and Misses Mary Womack, Lottle Staples, Mary Burwell, Isabel Norvell, Annie Farls, Mary Watkins, Bryd Mason, Sara Goode, Miss Stephens, Miss Walke, Mrs. Gloen, Mrs. Carrigan, Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. Doggett and others.

Fox-hunting is still the rage here. Dr. Hoyd and Mr. Wilkerson have caught five foxes in as many days' run. Indeed every one of the twelve foxes that have been caught, and the Mocklenburg dogs did it, and every hunter, declares that the Mecklenburg pack could not do better work under any circumstances. "Johnson" is a great tracker, and others equally as good show their proud pedigree by their performance—every time.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Craig, Mr. and Mrs. H. Thomas and Emmett Seaton, of Richmond; Mr. Oudin, of New York, is not seen the proud pedigree by their performance—every time.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Craig, Mr. and has a "little red shawi party," of song and character that lasted day and night. The "down" was to be
